Millard Maritime Launches New Website

New design is easier to navigate and contains more useful information

Omaha, NE – February 14, 2014 -- Millard Maritime[®], a leading Gulf Coast port and cargo solution provider, today announced the re-launch of the company's website, www.millardmaritime.com. The new site is designed to quickly and precisely present Millard Maritime unique value proposition for shippers and other users.

“The new website was developed to clearly and eloquently demonstrate how each capability of Millard Maritime positively impacts the logistics operations of our shipper and carrier partners. The site highlights the value we multiply for our customers across the supply chain in an engaging and informative manner,” said Tim Smith, Senior Vice President of Sales & Marketing at Millard Refrigerated Services.

The key features of the new Millard Maritime website include:

- Cargo – A listing of the major commodities and product lines shipped to and received from Millard Maritime
- Port – A description of Millard Maritime services and development opportunities
- Company – A description of Millard Maritime, the company's mission statement and other important information

- Resources – A listing of helpful links for shippers and others in the maritime industry

“We are working hard to provide our current and potential customers with all the information they need to select our port as their partner for freight and shipping solutions in the Gulf Coast. The new Millard Maritime site helps us provides this knowledge 24/7/365, and gives viewers an easy and quick way to connect with our professional team,” said Bobby Wein, Vice President of Business Development.
